About the route

The A38 blue-surfaced cycle route provides approximately four kilometres of segregated 2-way route linking Selly Oak and the University of Birmingham with the city centre.

From outside the University of Birmingham, the route heads in a north easterly direction towards the city centre.

These landmarks are within easy reach of the route, along with other places of interest.

University of Birmingham – received its royal charter from Queen Victoria in 1900, and celebrated its centenary at the Edgbaston campus in 2009. The clock tower is known as ‘Old Joe’ after Joseph Chamberlain, the university’s first chancellor.

Cannon Hill Park – covers approximately 200 acres of land, with formal gardens, woodland and sports areas. The Midland Arts centre (MAC) and Birmingham Wildlife Conservation Park are also located within the park.

Edgbaston Stadium – the home of Warwickshire County Cricket Club, and also hosts other national and international matches.

The Back to Backs – Birmingham’s last surviving 19th century working people’s houses, which have been restored and is run by the National Trust.
