We have an exciting opportunity to join a multi-disciplinary public health team in the largest local authority in the country. We are looking for an experienced individual to join our Public Health Function as a Primary Care Public Health Nurse. The role is on a full-time, permanent basis, based in the Population Health and Care thematic area.

You will play a key role as the Directorate for People aims to improve the quality of life for the Children, Young People, and Families of Birmingham today, tomorrow and always.

The role will focus on delivering a set of agreed Public Health specialist functions, particularly assessing and challenging the equitable meeting of needs of Children, Young People and their families by geography, vulnerability, and/or culture.

Activities will involve working closely with the NHS (CCGs and providers), Council Officers and commissioners, Third sector providers, and elected members. The post holder will be responsible for ensuring that key clinical and service specific expertise is maintained and developed ensuring high level of expertise and delivery on evidence-based best practice.

You will inform, educate, and empower people and organisations about health issues and effective interventions. The role will also mobilise community partnerships and take action to identify and solve health problems.

This is an ideal opportunity for someone who has experience of working with or within a children’s organisation. Consideration will be given to full time, job share, or secondment arrangements.

Our Vision
The Directorate for People aims to improve the quality of life for the people of Birmingham today, tomorrow and always. Our vision is to create a city which provides:

- A good childhood, for the best start in life.
- A great education to give the best chances for life.
- Promoting people’s recovery and inclusion in the most independent life.
- Where needed, planning ahead across the life course.
- The best care and health outcomes for life.

The Public Health Function is an integral part of this vision, responsible for developing the Council into a ‘Public Health Engine’ which actively promotes population good health and enables all Birmingham citizens to make healthier choices. This will be achieved through the continual championing of the health and wellbeing of all people across the city, but especially the most vulnerable.

Public Health Function: Key Principles

- Provide robust information and intelligence to inform decision-making across the with Council and external stakeholders
- Responsive to opportunities, priorities and demand
- Deliver mandated functions
- Reduce health inequalities in Birmingham
- Act consistent with the core values of the Council
- Taking responsibility willingly
- Encourage innovation
- Enable a flexible and adaptable workforce

Strategic Context
The Public Health Function approach has been designed to respond to organisational business needs and strategic change within the Council as well as external political forces in order to improve Citizens’ health and wellbeing outcomes. The Public Health Function reflects the priorities of the City Council’s Future Model and the West Midlands Combined Authority. It supports the commissioning-led approach of the Council. The Public Health Function is designed to ensure that it can respond flexibly and adapt to these demands through both supporting and driving change, demonstrating excellence in Intelligence, NHS Support, Public Health Innovation and Council Collaboration. The Public Health Function is at the heart of improving health and wellbeing in Birmingham.

The delivery of an effective intelligence-led approach, based on a set of agreed principles, will require significant cultural and structural change – where the citizen is at the heart of what we do and each and every member of the Public Health workforce willingly and actively takes responsibility for their actions. The Public Health Function will establish the basis for:

- Leading, managing and supporting an intelligence-led approach within the Directorate for People, City Council and into wider joint/collaborative stakeholder arrangements, particularly with the NHS.
- A workforce with the managerial and professional skills and capacity needed to sustain continuous improvements, respond to and drive change.
- Structures, systems, processes and relationships that support excellent service delivery.
- Moving towards a whole systems approach across the Council.
- A workforce with the capacity, skills and knowledge to deliver effectively on NHS mandatory responsibilities.
- Developing and sustaining relationships to support effective use of the Public Health Function within and beyond the Directorate.
- Building on the Localisation agenda, developing local solutions that draw on all the assets of an area and to integrate public services and build resilience in communities.
- Supporting population behavioural change through a variety of approaches especially through the use of technological/digital capability.
- Improving and maintaining organisational resilience, especially in business critical areas.
- Ensuring that Public Health is a key component in the development of a Combined Authority in the West Midlands.
- Embedding the citizen voice across all relevant activities within the Public Health Function.
